Plan a yearlong campaign around our focus each issue

All themes are subject to change per editorial discretion.

JANUARY/ FEBRUARY

We're laying the foundation of skin for the year by covering something critical to overall wellness and skin health: sleep.

We're looking at what treatments and products pros are using to maintain the skin barrier, as well as the rise of waterless beauty. Get the latest on how AI is integrating into our digital tools and how hemp is finding its way into our products.

MARCH

Get ready to dive into the future of beauty and wellness with our March issue focused on Regenerative Aesthetics. This edition unpacks cutting-edge bio-stimulating treatments—think exosomes, PRP, stem cells and skin boosters like PDRN—that go beyond surface fixes to trigger real, lasting skin renewal.

Explore how wellness practices, detox protocols and nutraceuticals are now essential for that inside-out glow and discover the latest in tech-forward care, from AI-driven customization to apps that match patients with the perfect surgeon.

APRIL

April's all about watering where we want the greener grass. Self-care and personal growth take center stage with business development and client education, while we celebrate Environmental Awareness Month and Earth Day in our sustainability issue by showcasing natural and organic care.

Building meaningful industry relationships and soothing jojoba oil rounds out our feel-good issue to welcome spring.

MAY

For Skin Cancer Month, we'll be focusing on every inch of sun care, as well as good nutrition and how to holistically take care of ourselves.

We'll also be prepping pros on selling and providing tips and tricks on how to rock retail. The ever coveted vitamin C rounds out our May issue to kickoff the summer.

JUNE

Our acne issue is back! We'll go through innovations and breakthroughs in cleansers, while diving into considerations for male clientele.

Then, we'll get down to business and talk about major themes in spa management for 2026, including business literacy and sustainability. Then we'll see what vitamin E is up to in the industry and talk everything hyperpigmentation and acne scars.

Plan a yearlong campaign around our focus each issue

All themes are subject to change per editorial discretion.

JULY Pucker up! July we're talking about lip health and treatments and the ingredients we love so much, we could kiss 'em. We're talking about mindfulness and how to make it work harder for you and your clients. Take a look at how to optimize client and appointment management and then join us to discover the benefits of colloidal oatmeal.

AUGUST As the summer season winds down, we'll take a closer look at the relationship between skin care and wellness and how to design a comprehensive approach for both. We'll also include some tips and tricks for retailing effectively. Since it's National Psoriasis Awareness Month, we'll dive deep into the use and benefits of urea in skin care.

SEPTEMBER We're kicking off peel season with a run down of the state of luxury beauty and what's trending. Then, we're talking about all the good stuff we can do to keep our microbiome flourishing. We'll run through some of our favorite apps for everything from booking and spa management, to marketing and mental health. Don't miss our deep dive into the benefits of bee venom—we promise it won't sting.

OCTOBER October is all about retinols and other well-aging solutions. This feel-good issue will take a look at what pros can do to maintain and facilitate mental wellness. Also featured: practical advice for small businesses in growth and management and the longevity benefits of bone marrow.

NOVEMBER/
DECEMBER As we settle back into the cold, dry months, we'll focus on rejuvenation and elasticity and how to carry those through the winter. We'll maximize skin's reparative qualities and resilience and go into other neat ways to improve the client experience. Colloidal silver makes an appearance.
